

Hahn Outlines Proposals For Poverty Coordination

Supervisor Kenneth Hahn has called for a coordinated, well-defined program of goals by all governmental levels and private enterprise to meet the poverty problem.

Hahn said this coordinated effort should be coupled with a massive public works program to provide jobs and training.

"If the multitude of agencies at all levels of government fail to work together, time and taxpayers' money will continue to be wasted," Hahn said.

On his suggestion, the Board of Supervisors has directed letters to President Johnson and Secretary of Labor Wertz setting forth these points:

1. The key is jobs — providing them and training the hard-core unemployed to fill them and take a productive role in society.

Government and private industry must exert the will and the leadership in training and providing jobs.

This can be done by requiring that a certain number of the hard-core unemployed be hired and trained by private industry in major contracts awarded by government.

A sliding scale could be developed for partial payments of a trainee's salary by government, decreasing as the trainee spends more time on the job and becomes proficient.

(Taxpayers in Los Angeles County are already supporting about 3,000 able-bodied men on welfare. This plan would allow the recipient to get off welfare.)

For example, if a trainee were hired at $300 a month, government could at first pay $250 of that salary and

Area Road Approved

A short section of Brant Avenue in Dominguez will be paved by the County Road Department, Supervisor Burton W. Chace said today.

The project was authorized by the Board of Supervisors last week. The paving of 105 square feet of Brant, just north of Dominguez Street, will join with other projects recently constructed by owners of adjacent property.

as the man became a better trained worker, the government's portion could be reduced to $200, then $100, and finally zero.

2. A tax write-off, with limits, to private enterprise for training the unemployed on welfare should be fully explored.

3. A massive public works program should be developed to provide jobs and accomplish many needed improvements on behalf of all citizens.

There are hundreds of miles of flood control channel in Los Angeles County which could be landscaped and beautified; there are miles and miles of fire trails to be built, and space for hundreds of recreational areas and roadside rests in our mountain areas.

4. The educational curriculum in our schools at all levels should be re-evaluated to prevent the problem we have now—that of adult persons being illiterate and unskilled and having nothing to look forward to but welfare the rest of their lives. Courses should be changed; there should be smaller classes in the problem areas (15 pupils per teacher).

5. Housing conditions must be improved and every effort should be made to keep neighborhoods safe and attractive. Los Angeles County has shown the way in this area through its strict building rehabilitation program and its rigid enforcement of health, safety and fire codes.
